691	Filed & Entered: 10/05/2009	Order on Motion to Compel Docket Text: ORDER granting in part and denying in part [543] Motion to Compel, signed by Judge William C. Griesbach on 10-05-2009. [543] is GRANTED except as to the final objection involving the City's use of the term "PCBs" and API's responses that provide information about Aroclor 1242, the specific PCB used in NCR carbonless paper. It is not clear that this topic was the subject of a proper meet-and-confer, nor is it clear how other PCBs not used in the paper at issue here would be relevant to this action. Accordingly, the motion to compel [543] will be denied as to that issue. The MOTION [557] is held in ABEYANCE as it is unclear whether the motion is still ripe for decision. Accordingly, Kimberly-Clark is directed to inform the Court as soon as possible whether or not the matter has been resolved. FURTHER: THE TRIAL WILL NOW BEGIN JANUARY 4, 2010. On or before December 2, 2009 the parties are to identify exhibits, witness lists and deposition designations, and file motions in limine. On or before December 11, 2009 the parties are to submit Proposed Findings of Fact to the Court, file responses to the motions in limine, and identify counter-deposition designations. 	Docket Text: MARGIN ORDER re [736] Letter and [737] Letter, signed by Judge William C. Griesbach on 10-22-2009. Recent correspondence to the Court has suggested the possibility and timing of the filing of trial briefs in advance of the trial expected in this action. The Court is currently in the process of reviewing the numerous documents already filed in this case, and it appears that they have more than adequately framed the issues. Accordingly, the Court does not expect that additional briefing will add materially to its understanding of the issues. If the Court determines that further briefing would be necessary, the parties will be alerted and a schedule set. For now, however, the Court does not expect to receive additional materials in advance of trial. (cc: all counsel)(Griesbach, William)
